

SUNDAY SERVICE NOTES FOR APRIL 2017

Sunday, April 2

"Mingle and Chat"
Worship Associate

Reverend Tim Barger
Bonnie Rowe

Using Woody Trautman's phrase, we'll look at congregational hospitality, including aspects of church growth and access for people with different abilities.

Music Notes: This morning's service music mixes the familiar with the unfamiliar. We launch into the service with Matthew McConnell's take on "Amazing Grace" and hear Lani Smith's version for keyboard instrument of "How Can I Keep from Singing" during the offering. A choral version of the latter piece will be the climax of our all-music service on April 23. The Chalice Choir's anthem is a brand new piece, "Joy on the Journey of Life," which admonishes us to find joy even in the darkest moments.

Sunday, April 9

"Covenant to our Planet Home" - Palm Sunday

Judy Trautman

On this Green Sanctuary Sunday, Judy Trautman and the Social Justice Committee will explore our covenant to our earthly home. This theme relates well to a UU celebration of Palm Sunday and our commitment to Earth Day every day.

Music Notes: The musical highlight of this morning's service is the wonderful choral piece, Linda Williams' "Earthrise," a fitting choice for a service focusing on our physical world. For the speaker of the text is out in space looking back on our "seablue planet" which, as she circles the earth, seems to be rising and shining. The prelude, "By Still Waters," starts us off in a contemplative mood, and the postlude, "A Joyful Trumpet," energizes us as we move forward into our week. The Gathering performs a beautiful rendition of "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" composed by Harold Arlen, E.Y. Harburg and arranged by Israel Kamakawiwo'ole.

Sunday, April 16

"On Eggs and Easter" - Easter Sunday
Worship Associate

Reverend Tim Barger
Terry McCauley

A few stories have made their way into the Easter season. On Easter Sunday, we'll have a crack at the birth and rebirth stories and how eggs got into the mix.

Music Notes: Even though UUs are not all Christian in their religious leanings, we all can share in the excitement that Eastertide gives us as the holiday marks the beginning of spring. In tribute to this joyous atmosphere, the service begins with Lani Smith's "Welcome, Happy Morning." We honor the hero of the Easter story, Jesus, with an arrangement of a Shaker hymn, "Lord of the Dance," and end the service festively with Fenton Groden's "Alleluia Toccata." During offertory the Gathering shares with us Albert E. Brumley's "I'll Fly Away".

Sunday, April 23

"Sermons in Song"

Robert Rudolph

In words, and mostly in music, this morning's service explores the connection between religious thoughts and feelings and songs that express those ideas and impulses. What music do we hear coming to us from the world and what music, in our words and deeds, do we sing out to the world? In the music of our lives, what role does silence play?

Music Notes: The title of this morning's service is "Sermons in Song." This is an all-music service with the Handbell Choir playing an "Alleluia" for the prelude and the Chalice Choir presenting several anthems on the theme of music-making. One of benefits of singing in the choir is that choristers get to know intimately the sermons in song that are the pieces we sing every Sunday. We typically practice them for four weeks before offering them to the congregation. As a result we find ourselves singing them around the house, either silently in our heads or even out loud, shower or no shower. Their messages become part of who we are. We invite you to come this Sunday to join us in being touched by what they say. Wesley Forney, a gifted UT piano major studying with Professor Michael Boyd, accompanies the choir this morning as First Unitarian's music director, Gladys Rudolph, conducts.

Sunday, April 30

"Religious Education"
Worship Associate

Reverend Tim Barger & Nicole Jonsson
Judy Trautman

Reverend Tim and Acting Religious Educator Nicole Jonsson will share the chancel for a religious education service. We'll include appreciation for the teachers and students who take part in our RE program.

Music Notes: Musical highlights of this morning's service are the offertory, sung by the Junior Choir, and the Chalice Choir's anthem, "Children will Listen," a song from Stephen Sondheim's "Into the Woods", We are also hoping that some of our children and youth will be able to present the prelude and postlude.

Terry Acocks, Board President

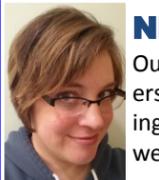

Again I feel such appreciation for the volunteer efforts this congregation provides in community and in our church. Nancy and Karen filled two tables at the Focus luncheon. The Auction was both a lot of fun and a great fundraiser thanks to the efforts of so many, particularly Chris, Susan and Tahree. Spring is here and the garden beds and grounds will need tending. Have you noticed the folks who provide security on Sunday's, opening and closing the building as well? Our volunteer efforts make a difference, Our availability varies with our life circumstances. Most of us can donate some time. It's good to set limits. Your No is as holy as your Yes! Please look around our church at what we do. Think of what you enjoy doing. When you find something you enjoy, volunteering is even more rewarding. You also help balance the contributions of our congregation so folks don't take more than their share of responsibility and burn out. Many hands make light work. In Fellowship, Terry Acocks

Reverend Tim Barger

I'm a person who doesn't do well in limiting foolishness to only the first day of April. No, I carry it through the month--through my life, really. With my academic background, I've enjoyed the fact that "sophomore" means "wise fool." I hope that I'm often wise in my foolishness. Foolishness is a valuable type of wisdom. It helps us not to take everything seriously, but also to know the times when the fool has no place and we need, instead, solemnity or focused attention or love in concentration. And then there are times when foolishness is a mild type of silliness or can bestow mercy. Be April fools sometimes regardless of the calendar. We need the lightness.

Your Minister, Reverend Tim

Nicole Jonsson, Acting Religious Educator (ARE)

Outside the world is greening, and many of us will start to work on our yards and gardens. This summer, Children's RE will be planting a beautiful mix of edibles and flowers in our congregation's memory garden. Rev. Tim and I will be outside with the kids during service on April 23rd. We'll be preparing the site, planting seeds, and teaching an Earth Day lesson in the cathedral of the out-of-doors. Muddy knees, grubby hands, and happy faces! Older UU's with a sense of wonder and play clothes are most welcome to join us. In Fellowship, Nicole Jonsson, Acting Religious Educator

UU AND THE TOLEDO ZOO REDUCING LANDFILL WASTE

In the last several years, our local ZooTeens have helped to divert nearly 400,000 pounds of waste from landfills through their TerraCycle program. Later this year, the program will be rolled out to the public, but Toledo Unitarians will get a head start effective immediately! Among the many collection bins under the coat racks, you will find a TerraCycle bin. Many every-day items such as cereal bags, chip bags, toothpaste containers, Solo cups and plates, and shampoo dispensers can be recycled here. When the bin is full, a representative from the ZooTeens program will take it away for processing. Please look for flyers on the Green Sanctuary bulletin board illustrating specifically what can be accepted into the TerraCycle program. Should you need further information, please contact Karen Porter. (kjport@sbcglobal.net) Thank you for helping us to protect our planet!

COMPASS HOSPITALITY AND MEMBERSHIP NEWS

Thank you all for welcoming First Unitarian's newest members: Carla Loganmercer and Dominic Wilson. Please make sure to congratulate them and welcome them into the fold as official members.

As your Compass committee continues to reach out to newcomers and deepen connections within the congregation, we appreciate your patience and support. The most noticeable change has been removing the large banquet tables from Fellowship Hall. The intent is to allow safer navigation and easy mingling during coffee hour.

Coming soon: We are hoping to host more family-friendly parties on site. If you have any ideas, or would like to help, please let Jewel and Carla know! (jeweldiljohn@aol.com or cloganmercer@yahoo.com)

A less obvious change that has been made is the scheduling and format of classes for newcomers. We purposefully schedule the classes to begin at 1pm so that they do not compete with the "social hour" after the service. We also adopted a 6-part series curriculum available free from the UUA website, and will host classes continuously throughout the year. That way, nobody has to wait long to become involved and start making connections within the church.

Do you know someone who is interested in learning about membership or learning more about our faith and/or our congregation? If so, please contact one of your Compass Hospitality and Membership committee members: Abigail Humphreys, Jewel Barger, Melanie Christiansen, or Carla Loganmercer.

The fourth class in The New UU series is this Sunday, April 23rd. Please RSVP to Melanie or Abigail if you are planning to attend. We will meet at 1:00 (after the potluck) in the Youth Room. All are welcome!
